Self-Assessment of Mastery of Principles
The Engineering Method of Technical Writing

Self-Assessment Homework III: Mastery of writing principles

Due Monday, February 27 at 11:59PM

The purpose of this homework is twofold:

- To help you practice the self-assessment you will need at the end of the course
- To contribute toward effective use of class time in reviewing and polishing our mastery of writing principles

Review your portfolio, including both in-class exercises and sample pages from your writing project, and choose two principles, exercises, or editing skills that you would benefit from revisiting. This information will help me schedule future classes.

This exercise will be graded only as “submitted” or “not submitted.”